

EGRET

COMMUNICATIONS

*Helping protect special places, species, and communities
Through the development and promotion of sustainable tourism - Worldwide.*

Egret Communications specializes in planning, developing, and promoting sustainable tourism. We approach tourism projects from a communications paradigm, working through the languages and needs of travelers, hosts, resource managers, conservation, science, and government.

We have worked on sustainable nature and culture tourism in some of the most exciting destinations around the world.

We have pioneered the concept of tourism engineering, which enables tourism development to meet destination or corporation needs.

Let us be your partner in guiding tourism toward sustainability - and in finding ways to shape tourism to the benefit of natural and cultural resources, your economy, and your society.

